

Stipulations

If you and the other party agree on a particular change to a prior judgment or order, then you may prepare and file a stipulation; this will usually avoid your having to appear in court. However, if the change affects child support, the child support agency must approve the proposed change.